Elizabeth focuses her practice on defending the financial services industry and representing financial advisors, insurance agents and others in professional malpractice actions.

Elizabeth is an associate with Saretsky Hart Michaels + Gould PC, where she represents clients in securities and financial services matters.

Prior to joining SHMG, Elizabeth represented investor claimants in securities arbitrations, gaining experience handling matters before FINRA and advocating for clients throughout the arbitration process. She also previously practiced at a labor and employment law firm, where she represented clients in a range of employment-related matters.

Elizabeth received her B.A. from Binghamton University in 2021, graduating summa cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa. She received her J.D. from St. John's University, School of Law in May 2024. During her time in law school, Elizabeth was a staff member for the American Bankruptcy Institute Law Review, a competing member of the Dispute Resolution Society, and an executive board member of the Women's Law Society. She also participated in the St. John's Securities Arbitration Clinic, in which she provided pro bono legal representation to small investors in securities arbitration claims. Her experiences in practice and throughout law school have shaped her approach to compelling, thoughtful client advocacy.

Outside of the office, Elizabeth enjoys taking spin classes, dabbling in embroidery, and doing the New York Times crossword. As a New York native, she now enjoys exploring Chicago, discovering new restaurants, and experiencing all the Windy City has to offer.
